Happy New Year It's officially 2008, And the holidays have now come and gone. Time to get back to work. It's a good thing I enjoy my work! How about you? Maybe you've bought revenue-generating training material and software but you aren't using it. Is this the year that you take the bull by the horns and build an explosive Internet business? Perhaps you're stuck in a nine-to-five nightmare and haven't been able to break free. Is this the year that you will quit your j.o.b. because you are making more online? Are you watching others make money online, but beginning to wonder if you can really do it? This is your time! There is MORE opportunity online than ever before, but you HAVE to seize the opportunity and take action! What does that mean for you in 2008? Here is a list of Top 10 Internet Business Resolutions for 2008. I have personalized the list to first person, so repeat after me... 1) I will clearly define what I want my Internet business to look like in one year and set specific attainable goals to make it happen. (You can't get where you are going without a roadmap, so chart it out) 2) I will follow those who have succeeded, emulate their successes and learn from their mistakes. (We all need mentors. Be sure you are following people who have honestly and ethically found success) 3) I will stay focused and not get distracted by all the "bright shiny objects" (Just because an ebook, course or software product is great, doesn't mean it is going to help in your specific business. Be discerning!) 4) I will use the product I have purchased before buying anything else. (Do you have unread ebooks? Read 'em! Unused software? Use it! Unwatched DVDs? Put them in the DVD player!) 5) I will prioritize networking relationships with others in my industry, as it is people and not websites that make my business successful. (This is the secret to my success...) 6) I will make every effort to attend at least one Internet marketing live event in 2008. (And this is where I discovered the secret to my success!) 7) I will wisely invest time and money in my business. (If you aren't willing to make sacrifice, you probably aren't going to achieve your goals) 8) I will THINK BIG! (The opportunity is seemingly endless. Don't be satisfied with small successes... go for it!) 9) I will not give up! (Nothing happens without action. Never stop taking action.) 10) I will pay it forward. (It is more blessed to give than to receive, and I've found that when you help others it always comes back to you with good stuff) I hope you find these useful as you enter 2008!
